THE STUDY OF CHINESE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

A correspondent writer to the Times :-An impetus has just been given to Chinceo studies which it is hoped will have lasting and far-reaching consequences. On May 28 a Grace passed the Senate of the University of Cambridge by virtue of which Chinese was formally included in the Oriental Languages Tripos; and it will henceforth be possible to graduate with honours in that language alone, coupled with some knowledge of the general history of the Far East. It can hardly be said that this action is premature. It is proverbially unwise to wait until you are thirsty before you begin to dig your well; and simultaneously with the opening scenes of the international scramble for the China trade we find that the more wideawake of commercial com. petitors are already hastening to put their

Chinese schools in order. Now, although colloquial Chinese of sorts is a comparatively easy language for a smatterer, it is still a very difficult task to learn to read and write Chinese in any practical sense. There is no royal road to that goal ; it may indeed be said that there is no road at all other than the steep and. arduous climb inseparable from years of drudgery. For a merchant's clerk to think that by giving an hour or two a week, after business hours to the study of Chinese he has any prospect of securing an adequate, or indeed any, return for his time and moneyis simply to under estimate his task, and to court certain failure. Colloquial. Chinese may to a certain extent be jump-The said Trade Mark has been used by ed 'in that way by a man living in the country, though scarcely by a resident in England. But the book language of China, without which the colloquial has next to no seen at the Office of the Colon al Secretary | value whatever, cannot be ' juicped 'at all Just as the search for a short cut to a knowledge of the Latin language has been generally given up as hopeless, except by the crammer, so it will be found in the long run that nothing save a systematic and somewhat prolonged course will enable even the quickest-wirted student to read and write Chinese with a moderate fluctoy. The University of Cambridge hopes to catch the student young, and to carry him, without haste and without delay, through a three years' course, such as will give him a thorough grounding in the written language, and enable him, fortunate enough to find his lines laid in Chins, to graft on speedily and without difficulty a wide and business-like knowledge of the colloquial. One of his rewards will be the degree in honours. Many men, who either are not attracted towards a classical education or fail to see wherein clausical studies are likely to profit them in a possible commercial career, will, perhaps, be induced now to turn to Chinese, which offers practical and remonerative as well as purely academic attractions, and will very probably soon take its natural place as o. e of the important languages of the world. The University of Cambridge has the unique distinction of possessing a large and extremely valuable Chinese library, such as would be sought for in vain, not merely in Europe and America, but even in China itself. Already, too, there is a proposal on 1145 | the part of one generous donor to set saide a sum of money for the endowment of a scholarship in Chinese; and it is devoutly to he wished that other temefactors will not be slow to further a cause in which British commercial interests are so deeply involved.

PRIGHTFUL EXPERIENCE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Three Days and Nights on an Overturned Dory.

Mr F. D. Burdett, who arrived in Hongkong from the Philippines a few days ago, met with a thrilling experience during the recent storm in the Southern islands.

Mr Burdett is, says the Manila American, recognized as one of the most experienced mining engineers and mining experts in 945 the Orient and Australia. During the past three or four seasons he has engaged in tions when the storm came on and without warning sent his ship, the Cuilco, to the bottom while she was riding at anchor with eighty fathoms of line out.

A little after dark on the memorable night Mr Burdett was called on dock by increasing and there was danger of the cable parting. For three hours Mr Burdott directed the movements of the crew. The wind all night it changed to the south. In less time than it tokes in the telling the sea was chopped and a heavy swell from the south was lashed into fury by the hurricans wind. The boat was mable to withstand the cloments and when a huge wave swept over her every soul aboard was swept into the raging sea. A small dory belonging to the vessel was swept off with the human beings. Burdett was the first to get his bearing and disserning the dory struck out for it, and caught hold of the keel. A few minutes after all of the crew and the divers were hanging on the dory and for forty hours they battled with the waves holding on to

The most horrible part of the experience was the madness of two of the patives. The sun was so hot that it effected their brains and they went crazy. At first they tried to save them but were, so weak that it was impossible. Soon they became violent and tried to tear the others from their hold on the boat. The last of the natives who went crazy hung on for over three hours after his mind had left him, when he finally let go, he tried to struggle for over an hour in the water before he went down. Mr. Burdett and the survivors were at length thrown upon the shore of a small island, and Burdett scribbled a note to Captain Griffith, the Senior Inspector in Capiz who, upon receiving it from a native, hurried to his assistance in a harcta, finding on his assistance in a bareta, finding on his arrival that the survivors were fit subjects for the hospital. Mr Burdett was moved to thehospital in Capiz, where for three weeks he was unable to move. On June 23 he reached Manila and on the 3rd inst. sailed for Hongkong. When the Culiao went down she had on board about $2000 worth of pearls and several hundred pearl shells. Mr Burdett is going to Hongkong to get wrecking ap-paratus in order to raise his boat, if it can be done and expects to be back in Manila within three wooks.

The Old Spanish War Vessels.

The larnacle-covered Velasco, which arrived in port yesterday, has already crested considerable interest here, and numerous persons, on steam launches, have gone to view her. Relic-hunters have a poor show of getting unything to carry away, however, as the vessel was practically stripped before she left Manila. Mr A. B Moulder, of the Feaconsfield / Areade, purchased the Velasen, the Argus, th Reina Cristina, and the Murquis Ducro, and has had them brought to Hongkong for sale either as hulks or for breaking-up purposes. The vessels named are the only ones, out of the seven which were sunk, that have been raised, and if the others are floated Mr aloulder will purchase then and, have them rowed here, The pumping gear, steel hawsers, etc., which were used to bring the Velasco over, will be taken back to Manila on the Zafiro and then the Argus will be towed across. Unly one vessel can be brought at a time, but it is hoped to have them all in port before the typhoon season begins,

Mr Moulder-has several interesting curies from the vessels, one in particular being a Mauser rifle from the Reina · Cristina. The wood Fork has entirely disappeared and the iranwork has corroded; but not sufficiently to destroy the shape of the weapon. The Walking Craze. Calcutta has been attacked by the walking craze, the victims being members of the firms of Messra Birkmyre Brothers and Thomas and Co. The former firm issued a challenge, to the world for a walk of six a side for sixteen or twenty miles, was taken up by the latter firm. walk is to be from Barrackpore to the Calcutta Golf Club House for a silver cup, and will take place some evening, after dinner, this month. No doubt Hongkongites will catch the fever soon and residents will be afforded the sight of stockbrokers and others tramping up the Peak, down to Pokfulum and back to the city. Much embonpoint will have to be reduced first. however, but since the stockbrokers find no difficulty in reducing the market when they go about it in the right way, they should have no trouble in getting rid of superfluous adipose tissue.

Hongkong's Future. In the concluding paragraph of his report on the Blue Book for 1902, His Excellency Sir Henry Blake says :- In spite of the depression caused especially in Import Trade, by the fluctuations in the Silver Market and other more remote causes, the prosperity of the Colony has continued to expand during the past year. Statistics show that in spite of the Beavy drain uponthe esources of the Colony caused directly and indirectly by the annual recurrence of plague, the financial position of the Colony is sound and gives no cause for uncasiness for the future. At the same time it is well to remember that the assets of this Colony are practically the goodwill of its commerce, and it is only by a con tinuance of its sea-borne trade-which fortunately as yet shows no signs of declining-that the Colony can expect to remain in its present prosperous condition.

Our Legislators. We understand that the Hon. R Shewan (of Messrs Shewan, Tomes and Co.) goes on leave in a few weeks, and that there will be a contest for the honour of representing the Chamber of Commerce the Legislative Council during his absence. The two gentlemen mentioned up to the present are Mr E. A. Howitt, agent of P. and O. Company, and Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr H. Pollock, R.C. Both gentlemen have had considerable experience in public affairs, Mr Hewitt as a member of the Shanghai Municipal Council and Chairman of that really?' 'No. I am only too thankful important body during the Boxer troubles in North China, and he is at present a member of the Sanitary Board. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Legislation.

When Sir William Robinson came as Sovernor to Hongkong, he said the Colony seemed to have suffered from everlegislaion, and promised to give it a rest. We find that last year no less than 47 Ordinances were assed by the Legislative Council, but of these 22 were amending and 12 private Ordinances.

Malta Snubbed. Owing to the repeated rejection of the Education vote in connection with the Italian language question, the Imperial Government has established a new Constitution in Malta, increasing the official members of Council, reducing the elected members and curtailing their rights. This should be a solemn (?) warning to Hongkong, where spasmodic efforts have been made to secure an elective majority in the Legislative Council.

A Progressive Official.

Mr Win Tsung-yao, Expectant Taotai, and for the past year Interpreter to the Chinese Treaty Commission at Shanghai, where he has done good work and by his uniform energy and courtesy to all has obtained the good wishes and respect of every one, the N. C. Daily News learns, is soon to leave Shanghai for Canton, Wen Taotai, having been urgently sent for by Viceroy Tsen Ch'un-bstien to join his Excellency in his new sphere of work. V cercy Taen, most of us know, is a progresner of the Foreign Affairs for Kuangtung province, and we sincerely congratulate the gressive officer under him.

A 'Zafiro' Incident. Our attention has been directed by Mesars Deacon and Hastings to an omission in our report of the action brought by the Kwong Chun Hing firm against the Hang On Marine and Fire Insurance and Godown Company, Limited, the hearing of which took place at the Supreme Court on the 6th inst. As the plaintiffs' Counsel stated in opening the ease, the sole issue between the parties was whether or not after the arrival of the steamer Zufire at Manila there was a legal abandonment of the subject matter of the action to the defendants. That issue was decided by His Lordship the Chief Justice in favour of Messrs Deacon and Hastings' clients, the Defendant Company, who accordingly Mr C. E. H. Beavis established their contention that there was | Capt. H. Crichton, R.N... meither an actual nor constructive total loss. The amount of the partial loss, which defendants have always admitted Mr C. A. Parker, R.N. ... liability for, remains to be settled between the parties. On the question at issue between the parties, therefore, defendants were successful.

India and China.

It is a highly significant step which the Home Government have taken in sending Sir Ernest Satow to take counsel of the Vicercy at Simba before he returns to his important duties in China. The immediate cause is the Chine-Thibetan boundary commission: but (says the Times of Cepten), in his epoch-making speech to his Indian counsellors, Lord Curzon heralded a wider sphere for India's activities in the future, and painted the engaging picture of India taking a large share of the burden of empire directly upon her own shoulders. No more than Mr. Chamberlain over his Birmingham speech was Lord Curzon play. ing a lone hand, and there is confirmation | the hill on the top of which the Consulate of this in Sir Ernest Satow's present in stands. After arriving, and a few apstructions. It is a first step in the larger political matters. Should the ominous clouds that hang over the Middle Kingdom burst-and they certainly look as black as ever-then India will have an important part to play in the hurly-burly that must follow. The interests of India in connection with China are great and varied, and we need only refer to Nepal and Burma and Thibet to realize their importance, and how much more fitted the Viceroy and his advisors are to deal with them than London officials. To how far it is proposed that there should be a delegation of authority to the Government of India we have no liou, as it did not assume the 'taking posmeans of judging, but, in view of the sesion appearance that it would have done juxtaposition of India's frontiers in several if there had been an official reception. directions, it is to be hoped that it will be liberal. The probable development of the authority of the Government of India in the direction of the Far East makes us regret all the more the retrograde move which took Somaliland from her charge and placed it under the palsied control of the War Office. We could wish that th appointment of General Egerton to command the troops in Somaliland was the prefude to the work of smashing up the Mullah being undertaken by the Government of India.

WUCHOW, July 5. To-day, the British flag flew for the first time over the new British Consulate here. A number of residents and others were invited by Mr Consul H H. Fox to be present. After partaking of light refreshments, which were served in the Consular Offices standing at the foot of the hill, the party of ladies and gentlemen quietly accended propriate remarks having been made, Mrs. sphere of Indian initiation and execution in H.
